Recycled mail to Nico Arrived in Nijmegen

Mail from Mischa Gerloff

Mischa Gerloff writes:

On Nov. 27, 2007 I sent you a small letter (see below) with a card (Greetings from Saigon), hoping that you will invite me to <http://mailartdiscussion.blogspot.com/>. May be, the letter didn't reach you. May be, you didn't like it at all :-)

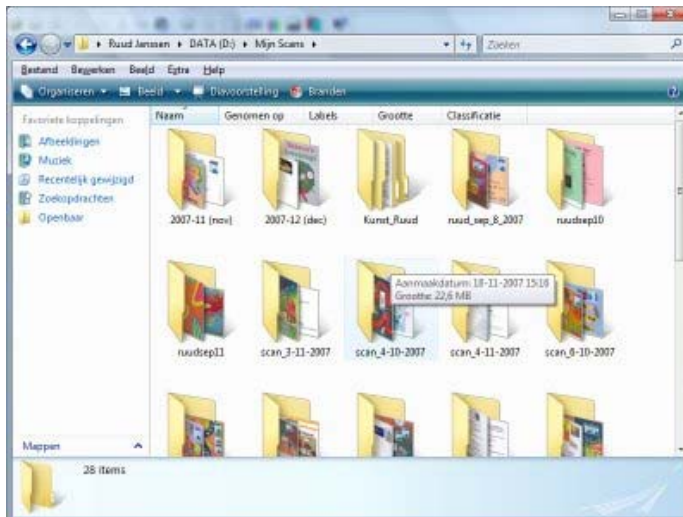

Sadly enough the card never reached me. Mischa sent me an e-mail to show me the envelope which I now publish her.

Working with Vista

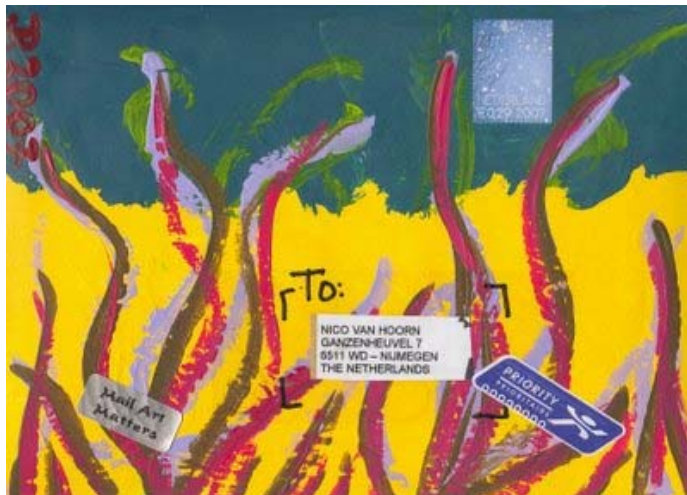

Working with MS Vista is fun. The interface is working quite well, but it only works when your computer is up-to-date enough (memory and capacity). Now the scanning of images is working better and I have access to all those digital images in a visual attractive way.....

Mail to Nico - Netherlands

In the Netherlands the postage rate for mail is in December always very low because of the christmas stamps. Sending an envelope of 50 gram only costs 29 cents. That is why I like to send out that much in December as well.....

Mail from D.C. Spaulding - USA

Another card from D.C. Spaulding arrived today. I saw it on some more blogs, so it seems the card is spread in great numbers over the mail-art network. Always funny to see these old traces of mail-art on new cards. Back to the line for today: recycling.

Mail to Michel Della Vedova - France

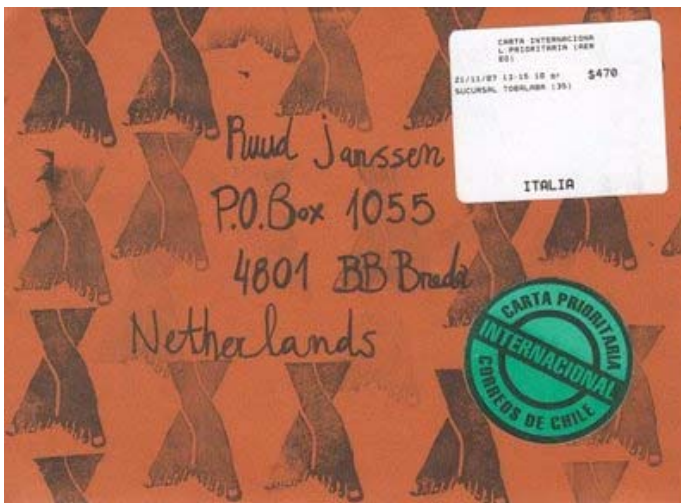

Trying to catch up with sending mail out again. That isn't easy because there are so many other things to do. This envelope goes from Michel in France. He probably doesn't read this blog so it is safe to publish this already. I started a new blog a month ago, but keep this low profile. If you know how to find blogs, you will find this one too....

Mail from Hotel Dada - Argentina

HOTEL dADA in Argentina organised a special event in Memory of Edgardo Antonio Vigo. Just before his death I interview Edgardo. I have been in contact with him since the beginning of the 80-ies. The interview was published in the magazine they produced in the original language (English) and a Spanish translation. Also other very informative articles were included about Edgardo. It is good to see that he is remembered this way.
