Robert Rehfeldt Article

Dear friends,

here is the English translation of my article on Robert Rehfeldt that I wrote for SpiegelOnline. You can find the pictures in the article at:

http://einestages.spiegel.de/static/authoralbumbackground/4863/kunst_ist_wenn_sie_trotzdem_entsteht.html

We furthermore opened the Mail Art exhibition "20 years since the Fall of the Wall - Mail Art was underground but what about today?" at Prenzlauer Berg-Museum in Berlin. More information at:

submitted will be exhibited in my ballroom dance studio for six weeks around March 20th which is the local art crawl. Nearly 300 people pass through my studio on that evening when my studio becomes an art gallery so submitted art will have a significant viewing. Submissions may be exhibited at other dance studios in Minnesota or elsewhere.

A Book About Death : The Video

Angela Ferrara, an artist based in São Paulo, Brazil, created this video for the exhibition A Book About Death.

Angela, a contributor to A Book About Death - see her piece for the project here - worked tirelessly to not only learn new software applications but to curate the original show into themes and sync it all to the music of Garry Schyman - Praan.

Music by Garry Schyman

Praan

Bhulbona ar shohojete
 Shei praan e mon uthbe mete
 Mrittu majhe dhaka ache
 je ontohin praan
 Bojre tomar baje bashi
 She ki shohoj gaan
 Shei shurete jagbo ami

(Repeat 3X)
 Shei jhor jeno shoi anonde
 Chittobinar taare
 Shotto-shundu dosh digonto
 Nachao je jhonkare!
 Bojre tomar baje bashi
 She ki shohoj gaan
 Shei shurete jagbo am

Praan (English Translation)

The same stream of life
 that runs through my veins night and day
 runs through the world
 and dances in rhythmic measures.

It is the same life
 that shoots in joy through the dust of the earth
 in numberless blades of grass and breaks into tumultuous waves of leaves and flowers.

It is the same life
 that is rocked in the ocean-cradle
 of birth and of death,
 in ebb and in flow.

I feel my limbs are made glorious
 by the touch of this world of life.
 And my pride is from the life-throb of ages
 dancing in my blood this moment.

Use of Garry Schyman's music for Praan - originally written for Where The Hell Is Matt? - has been generously granted by the composer.

Lyrics adapted from the poem "Stream Of Life" from Gitanjali by Rabindranath Tagore.

Music Credits: Music By Garry Schyman. Drums and Engineering Dan Blessinger. Vocals Palbasha Siddique. Guitars and bass Kevin Dukes. Concertmaster Belinda Broughton. Orchestral contractor Ross DeRoche (DeRoche Music Inc.). Vocal Contractor Melissa Nixon.

Howdie fellow Mail Art fans!

I'm an Australian artist working on this artwork which is a bit like an inversion of Mail Art, as it is ME who sends postcards to the willing participants.

The work attempts to join people all over the place in an 'invisible network', or an exhibition, only each person receives one artwork in their mail box.

It is also an attempt to connect in a non-electronic fashion. Because snail mail RULZ!

Anyway, if anyone wants to participate, and get an arty postcard from Down Under, please email me your address to:

aska.doll@gmail.com

There is also a Facebook group you can join, called: Mail Art Project
<http://www.facebook.com/home.php?#/group.php?gid=157620685918&ref=ts>

Thanks for your help
You ROCK!

Buy Art. Not Underwear

Send us your thoughts, a small drawing, Polaroid, or photograph of how you might interpret Buy Art. Not Underwear.and we will start posting them in the gallery.

Buy Art. Not Underwear.

The artists at Ice Cube Gallery, a brand new artists cooperative in Denver, Colorado invite you to comment on the commercial aspect of art-making.

What are the things that bind us together as artists? We disagree on everything. Aesthetics, color, line, value. What is art? What isn't art? What is good bad ugly? One thing that united this group of artists as we started this cooperative, Ice Cube Gallery, was our desire to make it financially feasible to have this place to create, push, put out installations that get us out of our normal comfort zones.

Oscar Wilde said that when bankers get together for dinner, they discuss art. When artists get together for dinner, they discuss money. Perhaps this may be true for the fact that most artists are always thinking about how to make the money to pay for the space and materials to make the art.

Andy Warhol said that:

Making money is art
and working is art
and good business
is the best art.

I am not really sure that this is true but, he definitely reflected modern and contemporary reality. It seems as though the only way to make art that gets noticed is to play by the rules of the market.

As we were gearing up for our first group show we noticed this little tidbit in the New York Times that says- According to some economists, rising underwear sales are an indicator of easing recession.

A few of us working on getting the cooperative off the ground started to imagine ourselves in a new piece of art instead of new underwear. Some people want to Photoshop their head onto someone else's body while holding up their art. Kathy Knaus and I started to think about creating art with our body parts that might wear underwear.

Send us a small drawing, Polaroid, or photograph of how you might interpret Buy Art. Not Underwear. -and we will start posting them in the gallery. No Deadline. We will keep posting them in the gallery as they come in.

Okay- Mail art tries to circumvent the whole commercial aspect but, as usual mail art is now part of the gallery experiece.
